

March Reading and Spelling Patterns for Hazelnut

The best way for your child to embed and apply their knowledge of spelling in their writing is to dictate a few sentences to them to write which include their spelling words. Revising spelling patterns for a short burst each day is more effective than working for one long session per week. Please select some activities from the Spell Well sheet sent home at the start of the year and try dictating some sentences for your child to write.

Extension:

- Can you find words that follow the same spelling pattern that are longer or more complicated? Bring them in to share with the class.

al-	de-	re- & non-	dis-
almighty almost alone along already alright also although altogether always	demist deflate de-ice defrost decode debug	refill reform refresh refuse repay replace replay return reuse non-starter non-stick non-stop nonsense	disable disagree disarm disclose discover disease disgrace dislike disobey disorder disrepair distrust disused tricky word: eyes	tricky word: friends	tricky word: great	tricky word: heard

March Reading and Spelling Patterns for Lemon

The best way for your child to embed and apply their knowledge of spelling in their writing is to dictate a few sentences to them to write which include their spelling words. Revising spelling patterns for a short burst each day is more effective than working for one long session per week. Please select some activities from the Spell Well sheet sent home at the start of the year and try dictating some sentences for your child to write.

Extension:

- Can you find words that follow the same spelling pattern that are longer or more complicated? Bring them in to share with the class.

oi/oy	-er/-est	plurals -s	plurals -es boil	braver	bikes	benches coil	bravest	boats	lunches coin	closer	boots	beaches foil	closest	coins	buses join	colder	games	brushes oil	coldest	goals	wishes point	longer	seeds	glasses soil	longest	shapes	boxes toil	older	teams	dresses boy	oldest	cages	sixes
joy	richer	noises	buzzes toy	richest	prizes	sandwiches tricky word: door	tricky word: love	tricky word: money	tricky word: often

March Reading and Spelling Patterns for Cherry

The best way for your child to embed and apply their knowledge of spelling in their writing is to dictate a few sentences to them to write which include their spelling words. Revising spelling patterns for a short burst each day is more effective than working for one long session per week. Please select some activities from the Spell Well sheet sent home at the start of the year and try dictating some sentences for your child to write.

Extension:

- Can you find words that follow the same spelling pattern that are longer or more complicated? Bring them in to share with the class.

-ke	-old/-ild/-ind	-ay	ai bake	bold	always	air
cake	cold	away	chair
lake	gold	day	fair
make	golden	display	hair rake	sold	hay	pair
stake	told	holiday	stair
trike		may	pail
bike	wild	pay	again
like	mild	play	brain
joke		say	grain
coke	behind	stay	pain
smoke	blind	today	paint duke	find	tray	train
tricky word: who	tricky word: which	tricky word: when	tricky word: balloon

March Reading and Spelling Patterns for Mango

The best way for your child to embed and apply their knowledge of spelling in their writing is to dictate a few sentences to them to write which include their spelling words. Revising spelling patterns for a short burst each day is more effective than working for one long session per week. Please select some activities from the Spell Well sheet sent home at the start of the year and try dictating some sentences for your child to write.

Extension:

- Can you find words that follow the same spelling pattern that are longer or more complicated? Bring them in to share with the class.

ch	sh	-sh	th
chat	shaft	ash	then chess	shed	cash	that chicken	shell	crash	the chin	shift	flash	then chip	shin	mash	there
chuck	ship	smash	this bench	shock	dish	bath
rich	shop	fish	path
much	shot	gosh	with lunch	shy	brush	both
tricky word: after	tricky word: because	tricky word: blue	tricky word: don't

